

Everyday Rights Lens Checklist

Use before planning, consultation, evidence gathering, feedback, or reflection.

HRBA FOUNDATIONS

Quick reference

Purpose A practical HRBA lens for everyday CSO decisions: identify rights, include people facing barriers, design meaningful participation, notice power, and build safe accountability.

1

Rights & Actors

Name who holds the rights, who bears the duty, and where the CSO can enable.

- ☐ Specific rights-holder group is named.
- ☐ Relevant duty-bearer and CSO enabling role are clear.

QUICK QUESTION Who has a valid claim, and who must respond?

2

Inclusion

Look for barriers that exclude people before they can participate or claim support.

- ☐ Access, language, timing, information, eligibility, and accommodation are checked.
- ☐ People facing multiple barriers have practical inclusion steps.

QUICK QUESTION Who may still be excluded even when the program is open?

3

Participation

Move beyond attendance toward real influence over decisions.

- ☐ Participation is safe, accessible, and well facilitated.
- ☐ Community input can influence choices, priorities, or follow-up.

QUICK QUESTION What can change because rights-holders participated?

4

Power

Notice visible, hidden, and invisible power in decisions and access.

- ☐ Formal rules, agenda-setting, and access to decision spaces are checked.
- ☐ Social expectations or internalized barriers are considered safely.

QUICK QUESTION Whose voice, access, or confidence is shaped by power?

5

Accountability

Build information, feedback, response, correction, and learning into the work.

- ☐ Information and feedback channels are clear, safe, and realistic.
- ☐ There is a response, correction, and follow-up loop.

QUICK QUESTION How will people know what changed after feedback?

Safe note before saving or sharing

Keep notes general. Do not write names, exact locations, active disputes, survivor stories, identifiable complaints, sensitive service details, or politically sensitive examples.

Everyday Rights Lens Working Copy

Printable working copy for safe, general, non-identifying notes.

HRBA FOUNDATIONS

Portfolio capture

How to use

Choose one real but non-sensitive project situation. Write short notes that can help you carry the Everyday Rights Lens into project design, dialogue, or safe reflection.

1. Rights & Actors

Rights-holder group:

Duty-bearer / responsible actor:

2. Inclusion

Who may be excluded?

One practical accommodation or inclusion step:

3. Participation

How will people understand and speak safely?

What decision can their input influence?

4. Power

One visible/hidden/invisible power issue:

One respectful way to reduce the barrier:

5. Accountability

Information people need:

Safe feedback channel and response/follow-up step:

Before you save, print, or share

- ☐ No names of community members, officials, staff, or survivors.
- ☐ No exact locations, active disputes, or identifiable complaints.
- ☐ No sensitive service details or politically sensitive examples.
- ☐ Notes are general enough to support learning without putting anyone at risk.

Carry forward to Module 3

Use these notes to strengthen context analysis, stakeholder mapping, participation design, and accountability choices in project design.